

NORTHERN TERRITORY POLICE ASSOCIATION
MEDIA RELEASE
Trust Fund Sergeant Brett Meredith

5 January 2010

The Northern Territory Police Association has been overwhelmed by the initial response from the Territory Community following the establishment of a trust account to assist the family of deceased NT Police Officer, Sergeant Brett Meredith.

"I am aware that today over $10,000 has been committed to the trust by Police Officers, members of the public and local businesses", NTPA President Vince Kelly said today.

"There have been donations of between $500 to $5000 from individuals and businesses".

"We have also received calls from aged pensioners who want to give what little they can afford.

"On top of this a number of police and community groups have offered to host fund raising events in the coming months.

"It is this type of support from the community that eases the burden in a small way for Brett's immediate family and his police family".

"Once again our Association thanks all those who have offered their support since Brett's tragic death – it is simply overwhelming", he said.
